

	List your ideas about design, art and the design process.
DESIGN PROCESS The spiral diagram shown here represents one way to look at the design process. Design thinking doesn't follow a straight linear path. The phases of the process often overlap, occurring simultaneously and circling back on themselves. <small>Spiral model, adapted from Barry Boehm, 1996, and Karl Ulrich, 2012</small>	Why do you think the design process does not follow 1 path from beginning to end?
	Which part of the design process do you feel is the most important and why?
	PROTOTYPE TO PRODUCT What are the characteristics of this display? Think about Colour, Line, Form, Placement of items, Materials used.
	Why do designers ask questions? Why do designers want to improve designs?
	Design it Better! Why is feedback important? Do you know any tips about giving or receiving feedback?
